

With all that is happening in Chicago, Washington, and our busy lives at home, I wanted to take this opportunity to wish you and yours a happy and healthy holiday season.

This is the time of year when we gather to enjoy the season with the people who mean most to us.

This is the time of year when it doesn't matter which holiday you celebrate or with which political party you identify.

This is the time of year when we remember what is truly important in life and take a few moments to appreciate it.

For me, I am happy to be spending the holidays with my wife Barb, our two beautiful daughters, and our two loving dogs. I hope that you are able to do the same with your loved ones.

As we celebrate the season together, share our blessings with those who are less fortunate, and keep the men and women fighting for us overseas in our thoughts, we also look forward to a new year filled with new opportunity

It is truly an honor for me to serve you in the U.S. House of Representatives, and I hope you will contact me if you ever need assistance.

Here's to Happy Holidays and a Joyous New Year!

Sincerely,

Mike Quigley
